Bond made contacts that will aid Eastern

by Melinda DeVries

Thomas Bond, Eastern's vice president for academic affairs, recently returned from a three-month administrators program at Washington, D.C., where he said he was able to let those in Washington know about Eastern and make important university contacts.

"The biggest benefits from the trip were that the people in Washington now know Eastern exists and I cultivated enough contacts that can be of some help to the university," Bond said.

Bond said through the contacts he made, he now knows who Eastern can contact for any type of assistance such as when the university wants to apply for certain grants or when it wants to find out what is on the horizon for universities in the future.

Bond, along with five other administrators, was selected through a nation-wide search based upon an evaluation of experience and accomplishments to participate in the first American Council on Education's Visiting Administrators Program.

Each administrator selected for the program was nominated by college or university presidents, federal administrators, supervisors and other governmental agency officials.

Bond, who began his three-month assignment in Washington Jan. 7, spent the majority of his time in the Bureau of Higher and Continuing Education.

His responsibilities were mainly in the Division of Institutional Development where he read institutions' grant requests and made recommendations for the funding of those grants.

He said he was also responsible for policy development, reviewing grant procedures and serving as the liaison between the Division of Institutional Development and the House and Senate Education Committee with the reauthorization of the Higher Education Act.

Bond said the Higher Education Act, an act which allows the distribution of federal grants to developing institutions, was passed in 1965 and must be reauthorized every five years by the legislature.

Besides spending the majority of his time in the Bureau of Higher and Continuing Education, Bond also observed the activities in the Department of Labor and the National Institute of Education.

Bond said he worked for 7 1/2 hours a day, five days a week.

During the time when he was not working, he said he visited various restaurants and museums in Washington.

All expenses associated with the assignment were paid by the American Council on Education and federal agencies involved.

Contacts Bond made while in Washington included Shirley Hufstetler, secretary of the new Department of Education and Paul Simon, a local congressman.

Other helpful contacts made were with people in Education Planning and the Foundation for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education.

Although Bond worked a regular work week in Washington, he returned to Eastern three times to keep up with happenings here.

Work-study program aids student employment

by Sally Parks

"Work" and "study," two words which can strike fear into the hearts of many students, comprise the name of one of the campus' most important programs which makes up approximately 20 percent of the student work force at Eastern.

The work-study program provides students with on-campus jobs as a form of financial aid, Work-Study Director Brenda Sweetin said recently.

It also provides workers for many of Eastern's academic departments, filling necessary positions for which the departments have inadequate funds to hire regular student employees.

The major difference between work-study employees and regular student employees is that work-study students are paid from federal funds and regular employees are paid from departmental funds, Sweetin said.

Also, all work-study students are paid the current minimum wage and regular student employees' salaries may differ a little, she said.

Currently about 396 students are employed through the program, Sweetin said, with the largest numbers working in the library, computer services and the physical education department. Approximately 2,000 Eastern students work on campus.

She said the number of those employed, which was 400 or 500 last September and October, "fluctuates constantly as people's awards run out, as they quit or as their employers fire them."

Actually, a low percentage of the students are fired, Sweetin said, with only 10 or 12 percent having been fired so far this year.

When students are fired, "many times it's because of a misunderstanding of what they are to do," Sweetin said.

In the event that a student is released from his job, she tries to place the student in a different job, she said.

"I have more requests for students than I have students," Sweetin said.

One thing that cuts down on having to reassign student workers is Sweetin's effort to place the students where they want to work.

When a student has been accepted for work-study and has been interviewed by Sweetin, he then goes for an interview with a representative of the department to which he has tentatively been assigned.

If the department supervisor is interested in hiring the student, he notifies the Financial Aids Office and the work assignment becomes official.

Then, as in most jobs, the supervisor tries to determine what job the employee is best suited for.

Students who are hired by the Computer Services Center are interviewed by Kay Giberson, secretary to Director Roland Spaniol.

In interviewing a student employee, Giberson said, she finds out what his major is and how many programming courses he has had, then tries to determine in which of the center's four areas he will be of the most benefit to the department and will gain the most benefit for himself.

"We try everything we can to help the student. We feel this is a good place for them to get work experience (in data processing)," she added.

Once Giberson has determined what appears to be the best place for the student employee, she said, she makes a recommendation to the supervisor of one of the areas that the student be placed there.

The supervisors of the Computer Services Center, which currently employs 25 students, usually place students in the less technical areas first, then move them to more technical jobs, Giberson said.

It usually takes a year or two for the students to learn the skills necessary for working in the systems and programming area, she said, adding that the department does not try to train them in programming through their employment, but expects the classwork they do to give them the major part of their training.

For the students who work in Booth Library, there is no really extensive training, Dee McNutt, supervisor of work-study hiring, said recently.

But, she said, "There is training for the more difficult areas."

About 40 work-study students are currently employed by the library, which is not quite half of their total student work force, McNutt said.

Though the library is a place where most students go to study, the work-study employees, like all of the library's other employees, are expected not to study on the job.

"A student should not be studying while working. We have let students go for that reason," McNutt said.

"I think you're doing the student a disservice when you allow him to loaf on the job," because employees are not allowed to loaf on the job in the real working world, she said.

One department on campus where a student can sometimes study while at work is the foreign language laboratory.

"Most students study while they work," laboratory director Karl-Ludwig Konrad said recently.

He added that he did not mind too much if every chore within the laboratory is done.

"You've got to keep up standards," Konrad said, adding that he is pleased when the department's eight work-study students and its other student employees look for things that need to be done in addition to doing specifically assigned work.

Theft ring broken

An equipment theft ring operating in at least four Southern Illinois counties, and possibly St. Louis County, MO., apparently has been broken, authorities said Sunday.

Clinton County Sherrif Jerry Dall said four persons will be charges in court in Carlyle on Monady and as many as six or seven others could be arrested. Dall said charges stem from the theft of an estimated $300,000 to $400,000 worth of farm and construction equipment, as well as recreational and luxury vehicles.

Rains slow fire

Scattered rains on Sunday helped slow the progress of South Carolina's largest forest fire since 1971, which charred more than 28,300 acres in rural Dare County and briefly threatened a village.

"It looks like its helping us quite a bit," said one firefighter of the intermittent rain. "It's pretty much stopped the spread at this point."

On Saturday, winds gusting up to 28 mph had fueled the flames at a breakneck pace through the pine woods and marshland.

The fire, which the forest service said was touched off Thursday by an errant Air Force Practice bomb, was still burning out of control, giving off dense smoke and ash.

'Grease' closes

"Grease," Broadway's longest-running musical, rocked, rolled and sang of high school life in the late Fifties for the last time on Sunday. It closed after 3,388 performances.

"Grease" opened Feb. 14, 1972 and had survived critics, a royalitis dispute and occasional slow box-office business. It took the long-run record from "Fiddler on the Roof" with its 3,243rd performance on Dec. 8.

Tarble fundraising drive scheduled for June start

by Melinda DeVries

A campaign to raise $200,000 needed to repay funds borrowed for construction of the planned Tarble Arts Center will begin in June, if the Illinois Board of Higher Education approves the proposed center that month, an Eastern administrator said.

Wayne Owens, director of public service and development, said if the IBHE approves the Tarble Arts proposal at its June meeting a campaign to solicit money to repay the funds obtained from the Eastern Illinois University Foundation will begin.

Groups including anyone at Eastern, interested businesses, Eastern alumni and interested community people will be contacted and given an opportunity to donate money to the project, Owens said.

The proposal was approved by the Board of Governors at its February meeting and Marvin said at that time if the IBHE approves the proposal, construction could begin Dec. 1.

The Tarble Arts Center, a center where anything related to the visual arts will be displayed, is estimated to cost $1.4 million.

Approximately $1 million was wille to Eastern for the construction of the building by Eastern alumnus Newto Tarble who helped with the planning of the center before his death in 1978.

Through investments of the money an additional $200,000 was made Owens said.

The remaining $200,000 needed to fund the project was donated by the EIU Foundation with the understanding that the money would be refunded within 18 months, Owens said.

The EIU Foundation receive donations of gifts of money, property, works of art, historical papers and documents and other materials having educational, artistic or historical value.

He said the building was originally planned to be located either near Carman Hall or near the campus pond but with the location moved to immediately south of Buzzard Education Building, cost could be trimmed because heat and electricity lines are already near and new ones will not have to be constructed.

A variety of summer aid applications available

Eastern students planning to attend summer school who need financial aid should apply immediately.

The summer aid now available includes the College Work-Study Program, the National Direct Student Loan and the Illinois Guaranteed Loan. In order to receive summer financial aid, students must submit their financial statement to the Financial Aids Office by May 1.

Students can pick up aid applications for both summer and fall sessions in Room B-12 of the Student Services Building.

Sue Sparks McKenna, director of financial aids, said 6,617 Eastern students last year received some form of financial aid.

She said the formula used at Eastern to determine financial need is based on student's approximate yearly budget of $3,100. This budget includes $788 for tuition and fees, $1,407 for room and board and $905 for personal spending and transportation. From the $3,100, expected family contribution and all other awards including private scholarships and grants are subtracted. The remaining cost is termed the student's financial need.

McKenna said the work-study program often takes care of a student's financial need. In this program, which began in 1965, 80 percent is funded by the federal government and 20 percent by the state. Students are assigned jobs in the university and work at minimum wage until they earn enough money to meet their predetermined need.

The National Direct Student Loan is a low interest loan to help students pay for education expenses after high school. The greatest asset this loan has is its 3 percent interest rate. The student can begin to pay back the loan nine months after graduating or quitting school, McKenna said.

The Illinois Guaranteed Loan is financed by a lending institution, such as a bank or credit union, with 7 percent interest. The loan's greatest asset is that the student need not qualify as having financial need to receive it.

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission Award (ISSC) is available for qualified students for the fall term. The ISSC has not paid for summer school since 1975 because they have not had the funding, McKenna said.

The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), which is funded by the federal government, is also available for students with a financial need.

Housing decision will not affect Fry case

Sue Schlanser

The Housing Office's recent decision to no longer require Eastern sophomores to live in residence halls will have little effect on the Board of Governors vs. Mary Fry case, Janet Montgomery, Fry's attorney said.

The case stemmed from a denial by the university in spring, 1979 to allow Fry to live in the Covenant House, a Christian women's residence, operated by the Christian Campus House at Eastern.

Fry, a sophomore at the time was required by the university to pay $605 for room and board in a residence hall, although she did not live there.

Fry claimed this was discrimination

Admitted hitman will speak here on the syndicate

"Joey," a mafia hitman, will discuss why crime exists in America and ways in which the American society causes it to flourish at 8 p.m. Tuesday in McAfee Gymnasium, Kim McDevitt, University Board lecture coordinator, said Sunday.

"Joey" has been involved in the syndicate since age 11, McDevitt said.

In his 30 years of working for the syndicate, "Joey" has made over $4 million. In those years, he has worked for such mafioso leaders as Meyer Lansky, Frank Costello and Joey Gallo.

"He's done just about everything illegal that one can imagine," McDevitt said, "He has been tried for murder three times."

McDevitt said she expects a large crowd to attend the lecture. Ticket prices are $1 for students and $1.50 for the general public.

since freshman and sophomore women were permitted to live in sorority houses.

At the present time, Fry is trying to win the $605 back in damages for the university's discrimination against her.

Montgomery said the new policy will not aid her client's claim of past discrimination and that the university will still be discriminating against the Covenant House since the old policy will still apply for freshman.

However, Gary Barnes, Christian

Collegiate Fellowship campus minister, said the decision may help Fry to receive her damages and may "hurt the university's case."

He said since the new requirement only applies to freshman, the university is now "singling out one group instead of two."

At present, the case is in the deposition state, in which the lawyers for the plaintiff and the defendant question the adverse party while under oath.

Glover, Singleton square off for presidency

Bob Glover

by Bonita L. Gower

Bob Glover, candidate for Student Senate president, says he plans to get a major change in the grade appeal policy next year.

The policy now states that the student must initiate the change request through the instructor himself within the first month of the following semester that receives that grade.

Glover says that there is no university policy available to get grades changed if the instructor is no longer around or a mistake has been made.

"I have seen this happen at 10 times this semester alone and I don't feel it is fair to the student to have to suffer," he said.

He added, "if the work of a student shows one grade and the instructor gives another, then the vice president for academic affairs should have the power to make the change."

Glover also said that he will work for the passage of the mass transit system proposal even though it is good for some and not for others.

"I feel that the students definitely need to look in their pockets and see how much money they use for transportation. People who live in Carman are generally more in favor of the system than those who live in the Triad."

Glover said the transit system would help with the parking problem and personal and property safety. "I can see where it would make for good security system. Students would not have to walk from uptown at night and may be less prone to causing problems there and on campus."

To overcome problems in the Student Senate, such as the increase this year in senate resignations, Glover says he plans to have several intensive senate orientation meetings.

"I feel that if the senators get to know the tools that can be used there will be less frustration and resignations. We need to know more on taking surveys, getting rooms and using the duplicating facilities," he said.

Glover, a sophomore political science major, has been a student senator for three of his four semester at Eastern. At the present, he is secretary to the senate and has served as chairman of the University Relations Committee. He has also spent three semesters as a student representative to the Council on University Planning and Budget. This past year, he has also served as an assistant to incumbent Student Body President, Bill Houlihan.

Robert Singleton

by Dyna Cole

"Student government is supposed to represent student opinion; they do fine on small things like a transit system, but on the big things like the student draft and ROTC they are ineffective."

Senior Robert Singleton says he will change this if he is elected.

Singleton said he will oppose an athletic fee increase and the move to Division I for athletics.

"We have to decide if travel to find another Division II school would be cheaper than a move to Division I. Trying to make Eastern's athletics compete with schools which are so much bigger and have so much more money is ridiculous."

Singleton said he also opposed ROTC military training on campus, which he said would stifle academic freedom and spirit of inquiry in the classrooms.

"Students may feel that the administration values the values of military training. An air of fear and violence follows ROTC."

Singleton said one of his first priorities is to "get something happening" on campus if he is elected Student Body President.

"What the senate needs is personal conflict. On projects which are really important I can get along with people. Its just people who want to waste time when things become unproductive."

Singleton has been a senator in the spring semester, and summer term before he resigned last fall.

Editor's note

Eastern student government elections will be held Wednesday.

To acquaint our readers with the candidates and to help them make informed choices, the News is publishing interviews of the executive candidates and platform letters of Student Senate candidates.

The News will make its endorsements on Tuesday.

Four run unopposed for executive offices

Dan Hunnicutt

by Carolyn Waller

Dan Hunnicutt, a sophomore political science major, said his qualifications for executive vice president include working with the Student Senate for the past three semesters, serving on various senate committees, and working with student-faculty boards.

Hunnicutt said he supports a recent proposal to change the grade repeat policy so that only the second grade received will be averaged into the student's grade average.

At present, the average of both grades is reflected in the g.p.a.

Hunnicutt said the policy change will "give a student an opportunity to better himself and let it show."

"I don't think it (the proposed policy change) is unfair to C students," Hunnicutt said.

Hunnicutt also spoke in favor of the mass transit proposal for Eastern.

This proposal asks for a $15-$20 student fee increase for a busing service around Charlesotn and into Mattoon.

"I think the mass transit is a worthwhile increase," Hunnicutt said.

Hunnicutt said he can work well with whoever is elected Student Body President.

Hunnicutt said he would not want to work with Robert Singleton, a candidate for Student Body President, but he would do the best job he could.

Todd Daniels

by Dyna Cole

Todd Daniels, another of the unopposed candidates in this semester's election, said he has "Mixed emotions" about being the only candidate for the office of student financial vice president.

"The students should be allowed a choice of candidates for the position, and its a shame in that respect, but I'm well qualified for the position or I wouldn't be running," Daniels said.

The qualifications Daniels refers to include three years in student government, three years of business experience, knowledge of budgets and budgeting process gained as a member of the Apportionment Board. He is also a junior marketing major.

Daniels said he thinks the athletic fee increase, which failed in referendum this semester, will come up again in the fall.

"I voted no on the athletic increase." He said the athletic program is important but "we gotta be careful about hiking fees."

He said the athletic program would need more funds to operate but the amount of the increase required is in question.

He said he plans to keep an eye on the athletic program funds to eliminate abuses of the funds.

He said he plans to advocate that athletic funds be kept in separate accounts to make keeping track of (continued on Page 5)

Terry Teele

by Laura Henry

Terry Teele, unopposed candidate for student Board of Governor's representative, in the spring student government elections, said his efforts as chairman of the Student Housing Committee and membership on the legislative leadership committee of the student government has stood him in good stead for the position.

Teele said the fact that he is running unopposed, as are all other executive candidates except those for the position of student body president, will not make him complacent.

"(I'm) not going to sit back until the election. The most important thing is to get students to vote. To me, I'm running against somebody, and that means I've got to get out and present my opinions to the students," he said.

These opinions include positive stances on the proposed grade repeat revision and another plan recommending that teachers not give tests or quizzes the two class days before finals week.

He said, however, that he has reached no definite conclusion on the issue of creating a mass transit system at Eastern.

"My feelings right now are that the city of Charleston should start taking care of us. Are we two separate cities the city of Eastern and the city of Charleston? We should as city hall for more help on this issue."

Tom Lamczyk

by Leesa Freeland

A student labor union and visit teacher evaluations are the program Tom Lamczyk, collective bargaining candidate would like to see created.

Lamczyk said that student workers at the university do not have a labor union to which to air their problems and complaints.

He also added that students fill out teacher evaluations but never see the results. He said he would like to see the results posted.

Lamczyk is a senior majoring political science but plans to stay Eastern and get another major energy management.

He has been a senator in the Student Senate for two years and a member of the Auditing Committee for three years, serving as co-chairman for two years. He has also served on the Campus Relations Committee and the Food Service Committee on the University Board.

Lamczyk was one of the originators of the legal services proposal and is co-chairman of the mass transit task force.

The collective bargaining position requires a person to represent students in bargaining talks between the university and the teachers union. Lamczyk said he that he was qualified for the job because he has had many classes in the area and his grandfather was a meat packers labor union leader.

(Editors note: As a public service, the Eastern News is publishing the following platforms submitted to the News from candidates for Student Senate.)

Residence Hall District

Diane Biason

I am a second semester freshman running for student senator in the residence hall district for the term of 1980-81.

I want to bring the student body and senate closer together, so the voice of the students can be thoroughly represented to all other state and national student groups through lobbying. We would all receive benefits from this.

I will put my 100 percent effort into the senate and student government as a whole. As a member of the Performing and Visual Arts Board, I am familiar with the system and its workings. Let me represent your views.

I would appreciate your support on Wednesday, April 16.

John Kriz

My name is John Kriz and I am running for senator in the resident hall district. My candidacy is based upon two issues and they are the students right to a binding monetary referendum and a ceiling on the number of student fee proposals.

The current constitution states that student body referendums are "for information purposes only." To me the student referendum should be the final decision maker for the students on all monetary matters and not the Student Senate. I believe a ceiling is necessary because of the increasing costs which we must bear. A ceiling, I believe, will hold down the number of proposals made and accepted. This in turn should hold down the rate at which our student fees increase.

So please vote Kriz.

Natalie Scott

Hi, my name is Natalie Scott and I'm running for retention as senator. I'm presently working on many proposals and would like the opportunity to continue my efforts. I'm a member of the Governance and Housing committees of the senate. As a member of the traffic committee, I'm helping to devise methods to eliminate Eastern's traffic problems. In cooperation with RHA we're revising the freshman housing brochure.

I have the experience and desire to continue as an effective and outspoken senator. To be successful, student government needs the input of the students. As a residence hall senator, I'll seek that input to improve conditions for students in my district. I would appreciate your support on April 16.

Terry Prillaman

As a current residence hall senator, I am aware of the many problems that face the students of Eastern Illinois University. In my past three years here, I have lived in three separate residence halls. This has enabled me to observe the good points as well as the bad points of these halls and residence halls in general.

My running mate Melanie McNeil, a residence hall senator, is also aware of the issues concerning students. With our background, your vote on Wednesday will be a vote for experience.

Your support will be greatly appreciated.

McNeil and Prillaman for residence hall senators. Number 1 and number 6 on the ballot.

Melanie McNeil

I am presently a member of both senate and the Residence Hall Association. In the past few months I have seen the two groups begin to work more closely. If elected I will continue to work for better communication between student organizations. Instead of duplicating efforts, both groups could combine forces, creating one first-class project instead of two lesser ones. Ideas which could benefit more than one organization could be shared, promoting a unified campus community instead of one filled with competing factions.

I would also like to work toward getting your voice heard in Springfield. We students are often taken advantage of, simply because we don't speak out enough. It is our school, for us. We need to defend that position.

Ron Slayton

I am a junior political science and speech communication major. I have lived in the residence halls for six semesters, therefore I believe I know what most students want out of student government.

My main goal if elected would be to fight for the reinstatement of funding for Model U.N. and the Vehicle. I believe that the decision to drop funding was hastily made and made without consulting the people involved in Model U.N. and Vehicle.

Another priority is to see that Saturday check cashing is provided for students. Many living in residence halls do not have a car at school and are sometimes faced to walk to a supermarket to cash any sizable check. Offering the service at the Union would benefit both on-campus and off-campus students, and relieve the crowds on Friday.

At-large District

Tim Bousky

If elected my major goal as a student senator would be to increase the accessibility and accountability of student government members to you the student. I feel student input is very important because as a student senator my duty would be to represent you. To increase accessibility I propose the publication in such highly visible places as the Eventsful of student senator phone members identifying the part of the student body to whom they are accountable. To increase accountability of the senators I would work for periodic posting of how senators voted each week. In this way you the student can determine how effective we are in representing you.

In closing I would just like to say it is your duty as a student to learn the issues, be informed and vote on April 16 for the people you feel can best represent you.

Jeff Kehl

Hi, my name is Jeff "Duck" Kehl. I'm running for Student Senate in the at-large district. If elected, I intend to become involved in several committees such as Housing, Academic Affairs and Student Awareness. I intend to work for better communication between student government and the student body. I feel that if there is better communication between the two more things can be done for the students as a whole. I'd greatly appreciate your vote on Wednesday.

Ed Marsch

I would greatly appreciate your support and vote on April 16. In return for your support if elected, I'll work diligently for the ENTIRE student body. I will represent you and your opinions to the best of my ability on important issues that you would like to see get passed or amended to. My main goal is to enhance the best activities, academics, and athletic environment on this campus. So remember to vote for Ed "Whitey" Marsh, number 6 on your ballot for student senator at-large.

David Mitchell

My name is David Mitchell and I'm running for student senator in the at-large district. I'm a junior majoring in finance.

I have been attending Eastern for five semesters three of which I lived in East Hall. While at East Hall I was elected Vice-President of the Executive Council. During this time I had the opportunity to learn how to work with people in striving to obtain common goals. I'm currently living off-campus. The reason I chose to run in the at-large district was because I have lived on- and off-campus and I feel I have a better understanding of the problems that confront all students.

My platform is simple: Do everything possible to better the college students life.

Russ Robb

My name is Russ Robb and I am running for student senator in the at-large district. I have lived in the residence halls for five semesters and one semester off-campus which makes me very familiar with the housing conditions at Eastern.

As a student senator I am currently serving on the Housing, Academic Affairs and Faculty Development committees. On these committees I have worked for such proposals as the fall break, a new honors system, the new grade repeat policy and have worked to create an information sheet of apartments.

As your student senator I shall continue to work to improve communications between the entire student body and the Student Senate. I would appreciate your support on April 16.

Off-campus District

Michael Nowak

In the past, Eastern's Student Senate has been plagued by a barrage of sudden retirements. If elected I will be a senator who is present at each meeting to represent the interests of students in the off-campus district.

I am currently serving on the Health Service board. Since my appointment in late February, our board has expanded health services to include part-time, as well as full-time students, with no fee increase whatsoever. Also compiled a three-page survey for student input, to be released soon. I also serve on the search committee to locate an attorney for our legal service.

I hope you will support me on April 16.

Wendy Welch

If elected senator from the off-campus district, my primary goal will be to represent the students that live off-campus to the best of my ability. I will be present at every student senate meeting to listen and learn what the students I represent want and take these ideas back to the senate. If elected, I will complete my entire term which has been a problem during the previous year.

I hope you will be concerned enough about the current problems to elect me in order to get things done.

Jim Kaestner

I am running for off-campus senator so that I can be present at senate meetings to represent views of the students in my district that never seem to be heard. I have lived both in residence halls and am presently off-campus, so I realize that the off-campus students have different needs and viewpoints.

If elected, I intend to be present at all meetings and complete my term, unlike many senators of the present term. I am a junior, a member of the University Board, and am a justice of the Student Supreme Court. I would like to encourage everyone to make an effort to vote on Wednesday. Thanks for your support.

athletic expenditures easier.

"When a check comes into the office (of the financial vice president) it should be marked so that we know where it goes, either to the Panther fund or the student fee funds."

He said he hopes the new athletic director will be receptive to the ideas.

Priorities for the future financial vice president are to work closely with the AB to see that funds are allocated as fairly as possible, and to do homework for students to keep them informed.

Lamczyk listed improvements which could be made in the student government system such as mandatory committee meetings, eliminating award items, recruiting senators in good academic standing, more input from students on how student fees are spent and more student input on how the textbook library works.

Lamczyk will be running unopposed in the election. "It is convenient for me because I have more time to work with committees than out working on the election," said Lamczyk.

Springhaven Wonderland plans 1980 opening

by Dan Brannan

Springhaven Wonderland on Rural Route 1 in Ashmore will officially open its 1980 camping and fishing season on Tuesday, Manager Brad Scott said Thursday.

Rides, miniature golf and swimming will be offered as soon as weather permits, Scott said.

Scott said he is now getting the picnic areas and rides into shape for the 1980 season.

Scott also said right now no new rides or attractions are planned for this year, but as the summer progresses more rides may be instituted.

Scott said the major event planned for this year is the Coles County sesquicentennial celebration.

The celebration is part of county-wide festivities which will commemorate 150 years since the founding of Coles County.

"The main thing we are planning for the sesquicentennial celebration is a balloon lift off," Scott said. We are also planning many other minor events."

Scott said Springhaven will also offer different entertainment this year.

"I don't know exactly who will be coming in, but we will leave the stage open to people in the community to come in and play," Scott said. We will hire contract bands to play, however."

Springhaven opened June 15, 1979 for the first time.

The major attractions of Springhaven are the water slide, the bumper boats, a miniature golf course and a swimming pool.

Scott said Springhaven also caters to all kinds of picnic gatherings.

Another major attraction of Springhaven has been the 61-foot Abe Lincoln statue. The previous site of the statue was three miles east of Charleston in a cornfield.

"It has been amazing how many people have come from all over the United States just to look at that statue," Scott said.

Scott said the prices for this year will remain about the same as last year's.

"The prices of the bumper boats have gone down from $1.25 to $1," Scott said. This year the water slide will cost $2.50 for a half hour."

Scott said he is trying to work out a special rate for college students.

"We are trying to work out a two week pass for students who will not be here this summer," Scott said.

Season passes will be $40 for a single pass and $75 for a family pass.

Eastern paper drive set

by Laura Henry

Eastern's first paper drive of the 80s is to take place from April 16-18, Student Senator Tom Lamczyk said Wednesday.

The Student Senate, along with the University Board, Residence Hall Association, Panhellenic Council and the Eastern News, will provide volunteers to help with the drive, which will also include aluminum.

"At Eastern, we throw away an estimated 40,000 tons of trash every year. This trash then goes to a landfill. When you consider that maybe 80 percent of the trash is paper, you can see what an advantage a paper drive would be," Lamczyk said.

During the three days of the drive, a 20-ton trailer from Twin Cities Recycling of Urbana will be located near the University Union.

"We will be paid $25 per ton for paper and 17 cents per pound for aluminum. We would like to have students bundle the paper up before it is brought to the drop-off. There will be a separate place for aluminum by the trailer," Lamczyk said.

REO ticket sales behind schedule

Ticket sales for the April 27 REO Speedwagon concert are going "fair," Mike Berggren, University Board concert coordinator, said Sunday.

Berggren said there are over 2,700 unsold tickets with north and south bleacher and behind-the-stage seating still available.

Berggren said there have been over 3,200 tickets sold for the concert so far.

The proceeds from the drive are to be used to commemorate "Earth Day," a day set aside to promote protection of the environment.

"On Earth Day, which is April 22, there will be some kind of activity for the students from the money collected. We hope to earn around $500 so we can get a good band," Chuck Marley, University Board president, said.

Lamczyk said any type of aluminum or paper can be used in the drive, but students should not bring "hard core" garbage like discarded food items to the trailer.

Students interested in helping with the drive should contact the student activities office, said Marley.

Flicks

Marketing students to get awards in St. Louis

by Marc LeSage
Two Eastern students and one faculty member will attend the Ad-
Work

But many of the university's other departments, have work available for the students to do during all of their working hours.

The physical education department, which employs about 20 work-study students at the present time, is one such department.

"There's never a time, that I could see, that they don't have anything to do," Russ Waltrip, supervisor of gymnasium and facilities, said.

This holds true for the Computer Services Center as well.

"I feel that a student is working to earn money and that the work should be as real as possible," Giberson said.

The attitude of many work-study students toward the program seems to be indifference, but some students recognized benefits in being involved in the program.

"I like being guaranteed the hours to vertising Club of Greater St. Louis' 35th annual College Awards Program April 13, 14 and 15, Michael Dyer of work, knowing that my hours won't be cut," sophomore Nancy Matejka said.

Two other advantages for students on the work-study program, junior Diane Melican said, are that "work study usually involves working on campus and they assign hours around a student's class schedule."

Though many students may be interested in being employed through the work-study program, not all students are eligible.

In order to find out if he is eligible for the program, an interested student must apply for financial aid from Eastern, and before he can fill out the necessary form he must first apply for a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant and for a grant from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

These forms are available in the main Financial Aids Office, located in the Student Services Building.

the marketing department said.

Senior Terri Bradley and junior Paul Augustyniak, along with Dyer, have been selected to attend the awards program. Students from twenty universities across the Midwest will also attend, Dyer said.

The trip includes an all-expense paid, three-day tour of the advertising and public relations industry of greater St. Louis, Dyer said.

"Bradley, a senior marketing major, and Augustyniak, a junior speech and marketing major, were chosen to attend the awards program based on their academic performance, as well as an interest and commitment to the field of marketing," Dyer said.

The students will be recognized at the club's monthly luncheon on Tuesday and will be honored with a certificate, Dyer said.

The Advertising Club is made up of advertising agencies, newspapers and radio and television stations that have an interest in advertising, he added.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint students with the career and employment opportunities which are available in the St. Louis area, Dyer said.

Women's softball squad drops three at ISU

Scoring just four runs in three games, Eastern's women's softball team dropped three straight games in the Illinois State University Invitational this past weekend in Bloomington. The losses left Eastern with a 3-9 record on the season. The Panthers lost to Michigan State 5-0, Texas A & M 2-0 and Ohio State 6-4.

Eastern pitcher Kathy Richards surrendered only five hits in the MSU loss, but five Panther errors led to three unearned Spartan runs.

"The cold weather hurt us. We couldn't hold on to the ball," Eastern head coach Lynette Nevins said.

Richards, who took the loss, was the Panthers' leading hitter with two hits in three at bats.

Texas A & M, which Nevins termed gave up only a dribbling infield hit down the third base line in the last two innings to finish with a five-hitter.

Max Weibel, who began Saturday with a 3-1 record and the lowest earned run average on the Panther staff, was not as successful.

Bothered by control problems from the start, Weibel got through the first two innings giving up only one run, but then got knocked out of the box in the third.

Lenny Lunberg took over when the ISU lead ballooned to 7-0 and he quickly gave up a run-scoring single and a two-run homer to the first two batters he faced.

The junior reliever settled down to retire the last 10 men he faced after that, but ISU had already given pitcher Todd Walker a big enough lead.

Koenig got Eastern on the scoreboard with a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Nichols had a three-run blast in the seventh. But little else went right for Eastern in its home opener.

"a very, very strong ballclub," allowed Eastern only two hits in its 2-0 victory over Eastern. Panther second baseman Jennifer Haley registered both of Eastern's hits in three trips to the plate.

Texas A & M had only five hits, but also stole three bases.

Pitcher Holly Van Remmen took the loss for Eastern.

"I thought Holly did a real good job and kept the ball down," Nevins said.

Eastern erupted for 14 hits against Ohio State, but OSU had 12 in defeating the Panthers 6-4.

"At least we started hitting the ball and scoring some runs," Nevins said: Eastern was in a 4-4 tie with the Buckeyes as late as the sixth inning, but OSU pushed across two runs in the seventh for the victory.

Eastern's Richards' record dropped to 2-6 as she picked up her second loss of the tournament against OSU.

Panther second baseman Haley again led Eastern offensively with four singles, while Richards had three hits in four at-bats.

Tracksters take several firsts in ELU Relays

by Dan Brannan

Eastern's tracksters had five individual champions and placed several other individuals in a fine team showing at the 14th annual Eastern Invitational Relays on Saturday at O'Brien Field.

Eastern won more first places than any other school at the meet, but no team scores were kept.

Eastern track coach Neil Moore said he was especially pleased with the team's overall performance.

Highlighting Eastern's performances in the meet was discus thrower Paul James from Mahomet-Seymour, who won his event with a throw of 170-5 1/2.

The toss qualified James for the NCAA Division II finals in California. It was the second longest throw in Eastern history behind Mike Miller's 173-5 in 1976.

Moore said he was very pleased with

James as he made up for a rather disappointing season last year.

Mike Viano also turned in an excellent performance in the 10,000-meter run with a time of 31:13.1.

Viano has already qualified for the national finals in the 5,000 meter.

Augustine Oruwari finished first in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 14.13.

"Oruwari is not completely recovered from his knee injury," Moore said. "He is improving and I expect him to go under 14.0 next week at the Illini Classic."

Mike Moore took second in the 10,000-meters with a time of 31:26.5 and Damon Pehlps placed second in the triple jump with a leap of 47-8 1/2.

Eastern received fourth place finishes from Mpaka Fyneface in the 400-intermediate hurdles and Rick Francis in the hammer throw. Mark Stockwell tied for fifth in the pole vault.

Anthony Cox added a fifth place in the shot put with a throw of 47-5 1/4.

Moore said Eastern is still not totally recovered from unjuries suffered during the indoor season.

"We are still not back from all the injuries, but I am much happier with the squad this week than I have been all season," Moore said.

Eastern's other top hurdler, Bob Johnson, is still out with a knee injury, but Moore said he should return to practice next week.

Curt Nafzinger of Carlinville won the javelin with a personal best of 205-0.

Nafzinger's throw placed him fourth on the all-time javelin list at Eastern.

Eastern's final individual champion was Robin Romans in the steeplechase with a winning time of 9:35.2.

"Romans' effort was very good considering the wind and cold," Moore said.

Eastern did not fare too well in the relay events, but it did have many other performers turn in high individual finishes in the meet.

Moore also said Eastern's schedule will really pick up the rest of the season with the Illini Classic and Drake Relays coming up.

The Illini Classic will be held next Saturday at the University of Illinois.

Women from Page 16

Anderson and Belton, the No. 1 doubles team, won over Noster and Thomas 6-2, 6-3. Groth and Riberto easily took their win from McDonald and Voss, 6-1, 6-1.

Haberkorn and Peterson defeated Park and Taylor 6-4, 6-2 to conclude the doubles competition.

Julie Krueger, who is ill, did not travel with the Panthers Saturday.

Tuesday, Eastern will travel to Indiana State University to play at 4 p.m. CST against the Sycamores. Earley will make no predictions about the match, but she said that the ISU team is supposed to be strong this year.

Pirates shut out Cards 3-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)— "He didn't groove it," said Pittsburgh's Jim Rooker after slamming the seventh home run of his major league career Sunday. "It was actually out of the strike zone. If it had been a good pitch,

I probably wouldn't have hit it."

Both Rooker's blast off Silvio Martinez and his pitching arm were instrumental in the Pirates' 3-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Women netters lose to SIU-C, down Stephens

by Betsey Guzior

Mixed success surrounded Eastern's women's tennis team as it took a win and suffered a loss this weekend in spring competition.

Eastern defeated Missouri-based Stephens College 8-1 in Bloomington Saturday, but fell to a tough Southern Illinois University-Carbondale team, 8-1 Sunday.

Friday's weather caused matches against Illinois State University and Augustana to be postponed, but Eastern competed Saturday and Sunday in relatively cold and windy spring weather.

Coach Karen Earley said both matches were not as lopsided as the scores revealed.

"We won very handily against Stephens, but there were good matches played," Earley said.

"We may have lost to Southern, but we played long matches and stayed in it the whole way.

Southern's team is very strong and they have a lot of depth," Earley said.

They also are very strong in doubles, Earley added.

Part of that doubles strength came from Jeanne Jones and Mauri Kohler of Southern, who took Eastern's No. 1 doubles team of Jill Anderson and Deb Belton to three sets and defeated them 6-3, 6-7, 6-3.

"Jill and Deb couldn't pull out of the third set," Earley said. "They were capable of winning them, but it just didn't happen."

Janet Haberkorn was the only other player to take any of Southern's players to a third set.

Winning in the first set, 6-3, Haberkorn continued playing for two and one-half hours before finally losing to Carol Foss, 5-7, 4-6.

"Janet lost a tough match in three," Earley said.

The closest match in the singles competition was between Eastern's Patty Groth and Mauri Kohler. The pair played two tie breaking sets, which Kohler won 7-6, 7-6.

No. 1 seeded Jill Anderson lost to Jeanne Jones, 3-6, 5-7, while No. 2 Deb Belton suffered a 2-6, 1-6 loss to Lisa Warrem.

In other singles matches, Josie Riberto lost to Southern's Debbie Martin 2-6 and 2-6 and Eastern's Kristin Peterson was beat by Fran Watson 2-6 and 2-6.

In doubles play, Groth and Riberto were defeated 6-3, 6-2 by the pair of Foss and Warrem. Haberkorn and Peterson lost to Martin and Watson, 4-6 and 0-6.

Saturday's match against Stephens proved to be a little more enjoyable for the Panthers.

In the singles competition, Haberkorn came back from a close 6-7 first set to blank Mary Taylor of Stephens in the second and third sets, 6-0, 6-0.

"Janet had to adjust to the wind by the first match, and came back to win the sets," Earley said.

Eastern's only loss in Saturday's match was by Anderson, who succumbed to Sylvia Noster, 4-6, 5-7.

She (Noster) was very strong against Jill. She's from out-of-state, but there was a gap between here and the rest of the team," Earley said.

In other singles competition, Belton took a match from Callie McDonald, 6-3, 6-4, while Groth blasted Barb Thomas of Stephens 6-1, 6-2.

Riberto took care of Kim Voss by defeating her 6-4, 6-2, and Peterson went on from a close 7-5 win in the first set to capture the match from Marie Park with a 6-1 win.

Panthers split pair of double-headers with ISU

by Dave Claypool and Brian Nielsen

After battling cold weather and Illinois State's Redbirds through 28 innings in two days, Eastern's baseball team found itself right back where it started—below .500.

The Panthers, who split double-headers on both days of their four-game opening home stand at Monier Field, saw the weekend action leave them with a record of 9-10. And this record is not one which coach Tom McDevitt is pleased with.

"We've got to start winning more games than we're losing," the coach said. "The little things have really been taking their toll."

In Saturday's action, the Panthers bounced back from an 11-6 trouncing by ISU to hand the Redbirds one of their own in the nightcap 10-5.

But in Sunday's play it was Eastern who got the day off with a win as they nipped ISU 5-4 behind the bat of Marty Pulley before losing the nightcap 12-6.

The senior catcher ripped an 0-2 pitch over the right-center field fence in the Panther half of the sixth inning, giving the Panthers a 5-3 lead.

The Redbirds mounted a mild rally in the top of the seventh, but fell one run short in their attempt to hand starter Myron Richardson his third loss.

The victory put the senior righthander even for the season at 2-2 with brief relief coming from Max Weibel, who earned the save.

Weibel came in to face two Redbirds with two out in the seventh, and after allowing one walk, got Dave Griffin to fly out to rightfielder Ken Saxe.

The Panthers had to battle back from a first-inning, three-run deficit to nab the victory.

Eastern was not able to ring up a score until the fourth when Saxe knocked in third baseman Gordon Smith and shortstop Tom Detmer. The pair reached on an error and a fielders choice respectively. The Panthers scored a third run when Tim Pyznarski walked with the bases loaded.

Detmer accounted for the other Panther run when he looped a single to right, bringing in first baseman Wade Bradley, who reached on a walk.

The tide turned though for the Panthers in the finale.

After jumping out to an early 3-0 lead, Eastern found the later innings rough, as they fell to defeat 12-6.

ISU collected five runs in its final trip to the plate to secure the win after being deadlocked 6-6 through the first six innings.

"We just couldn't get our hitting going towards the end," McDevitt said. "Some untimely errors hurt too."

Pyznarski came through for the Panthers in the first inning when he sacrificed for designated hitter Matt Cimo.

Detmer lead the Panthers in the run-producing column with two RBI's, while Smith went three for three and scored two runs.

Junior Brad White was pinned with the loss, his first of the year against one defeat.

On Saturday both ISU and Eastern used eight-run innings to key victories in the split.

In game one the Redbirds broke open a 1-0 game with an eight-run third inning and then coasted to the 11-6 rout.

But the Panthers bounced back with a king-sized rally of their own in game two when they overcame a 5-2 deficit with eight runs in the bottom of the fifth.

ISU had taken advantage of four Panther errors and three unearned runs against Ken Westray in the second game and appeared to be on the way to a split.

But then Eastern went to work against ISU reliever Duane Johnson. Base hits by Pyznarski, Mike Nichols, Rich Koenig and Detmer narrowed the gap to 5-4 with only one out.

Then Gordon Smith, who had come in to play third base in the top half of the inning, gave the Panthers their first lead of the day with a two-run single up the middle.

But the Panthers were not through yet.

After Mark Steppe popped up to the third baseman when trying to bunt, Ken Saxe and Marty Pulley drew bases on balls to load the bases for Pyznarski, batting for the second time in the inning.

Pyznarski greeted new ISU pitcher Jim Scott with a grand slam over the right field fence.

That gave Westray more than enough of a cushion to even up his season record at 2-2. The junior lefty

Baseball Monday

Coach Tom McDevitt will send a pair of freshmen to the mound for Monday's baseball double-header against Chicago Circle which begins at 1 p.m. at Monier Field.

Left-hander Bill Morton, who has lost his only decision of the season so far, is slated to pitch the first game for the Panthers. Ken Polarek will make his Eastern debut in the night cap.

The twin-bill was originally scheduled for last Thursday but was postponed by inclement weather.

After Monday's action Eastern will travel to Indiana State on Wednesday and then Southern Illinois-Edwardsville for games on Saturday and Sunday.

The next home game after Monday will be April 23 against Illinois.
